Official communication from British Gymnastics

Trampoline Gymnastics Technical Committee

Update

Keeping you informed with up-to-date Technical Committee news from your discipline

13 June 2012

- Excel Programme

The scheme has worked extremely well and in consequence it is to be extended in 2013 to include the non-Olympic disciplines of Tumbling and DMT.

- Tumbling and GMPD

These two disciplines, currently only partially forming part of TRA, will fully integrate under the TRA discipline effective 2013. In the meantime all the current interested parties are working and actioning integration issues.

- European Youth Olympic Games

Discussions continue with the proposal of instigating the EYOG event. Plans and proposals continue to be developed and discussed.

- Time of Flight

The ToF element of scoring for TRA FIG A & FIG B is to be extended to National C category competitions effective 2013. Some limited pilot trials may be run during the current 2012 Gala cycle so that any refinements can be made.

- GBR v Germany Youth Match

This annual event will take place later this year, this time in Germany.

- 4 Nations Competition

The 4 Nations will not take place this year because of a lack of funding and the suitability of the event to form part of the GBR competition calendar.

- Olympic Judge

Peter Heames has been selected by FIG to Judge at the London 2012 Men's TRA competition (He cannot Judge at the Ladies event as we have a GBR entrant). A well deserved appointment which is fully supported by the NTTC.

- 2013 Competition Handbook

The Handbook will be completely updated in readiness for the 2013 competition season

- Lilleshall enhancements

There are various building works taking place at Lilleshall which will improve the Trampolining facilities significantly. There will be permanent space for four trampolines and that, together with the new accommodation block, will make the venue suitable for squad training. The works are scheduled to be completed by early 2013.